AND, as I was a-sayin', the neighbors on all the roads—the Pleasant Valley Road, the Neptune Road, the Punkin Center Road—yes, all the neighbors everywhere, will enjoy the Goose Creek Bugle, a mirror that will reflect all the happenings of Goose Creek Community. A real news-paper, published twice each month, edited by none other than our own esteemed citizen, Joshua Elkins. Read with us in each issue a Message from the Country Church Pulpit where our beloved Parson breaks the bread of life. Walk with us through the Cross Roads Store and meet Rudy Simmons, the popular store-keeper—Join the circle of discussion in Lige Gupton's shoe shop—Listen to the gentle murmur of Goose Creek flowing by Raz Simpkins' water mill—Ride with Lem Gupton on his hack to Punkin Center (25c round trip). You'd better hurry with us to the Post Office and call for our mail before Strollin' Tom starts a-readin' our postal cards. On our way back to the Red Onion School House, let's keep step with the ringing of the anvil at the Blacksmith Shop run by Obe Snodgrass—Sit with us in one of the much-carved school desks and marvel at the wisdom of Miss Flutie Belcher teaching the McGuffey's Readers and Blue Back Spellers. Let's spend the night with Bob Applewhite, proprietor of the Goose Creek Livery Stable, and discuss the gossip of the neighborhood while he sits up with a colicky horse, then turn in for a night's repose in a deep feather-bed. Let's be careful in the morning not to over-eat of the home-cooked sausage and hot cakes because we want to remember there's a box supper at Goslin Pond in the evening. Turn with us the pages of Memory as we read the Goose Creek Bugle, thirteen issues (six months) for one dollar. Mailed anywhere in U. S. A. Subscribe for your friends.

GOOSE CREEK BUGLE

JOSHUA ELKINS
EDITOR IN CHIEF

Dear Neighbors:-

Naturally I feel my heart swelling with pride over being able to send the Goose Creek Bugle even beyond the boundaries of Sugarloaf, Ohio and Goose Creek, Ohio, though however there are no greater stands on its own merits, a paper of our country folks, by our country folks and for our country folks. We plan to put on every lip our slogan "READ THE BIBLE"

Another cause for joy is being able to announce the writings from the heart & pen of our own person Josiah Hopkins. We have perused the volumes by Josiah Hopkins on the different books of the Bible - take occasion here to say they are right to the point & will be a great help to all.

"READ THE BIBLE"

Yours to serve its neighbors
